As a truck driver I find the information that comes from the traffic & weather channels to be helpfull. When my friends call me to see what the traffic is doing in a particular city that they are in or headed to or through. I keep telling them to get the XM and the traffic channels are a big selling point. After they get help from me a few times on the phone, they usually go check it out. I like to check it out because I don't go to alot of those cities and it lets me hear what those cities are like. You could also say its a safety realated matter when it comes to the truckers. I would venture to say that a large portion of the XM Nation are truckers. Do Not take a great tool that the truckers pay good hard earned money for away from us.
